Mini Literature Review
Take 3 different research fields -and tie them together with your own words Requirement: all sources must be related to your final assignment topic!

To complete this assignment, use the tutorials and resources at:
http://campusguides.lib.utah.edu/sociology/SOC3480

2
Science, Technology & Engineering Scholarship (see resources on guide)

Find a scholarly article that talks about the technical side of the topic from a non-social sciences point of view.

a. State in your words a major point of the long-form journalism article

b. Find a short quote from the article that agrees and backs up what you stated above

c. Cite it in perfect APA style

3
Social-Sciences Scholarship

Find a scholarly article that talks about a social sciences point of view on your topic.

a. State in your words a major point of the long-form journalism article

b. Find a short quote from the article that agrees and backs up what you stated above

c. Cite it in perfect APA style

See finished example on next page
Love Canal
Dale Larsen | dale.larsen@utah.edu

Long-Form Journalism

(my words)
Love Canal was a big moment as it represented a tipping point for public health and safety—but it wasn’t universally accepted and agreed upon!

(from the article)
The talk grew strong. Environmental activists were in it for themselves, the government was a patsy, the chemical industry had been good for the city, life was full of risks, you took your chances. Are the houses safe? I asked.

"I never moved," said the resident. "What's safe?" said the lineman.

Social-Sciences Scholarship

(my words)
Women were the core leaders in the social and political movement related to environmental justice at Love Canal—but were not in a position of power due to societal gender roles.

As a side note, in Google Ngram, the term “housewife” (below) peaked in 1974, during the years leading up to success for the movement.

(from the article)
What were these women to do with their children, Gibbs asked? Where could they go? Many were angry and afraid. And yet, women who complained were dubbed hysterical housewives.